"There is no Appeal beyond Cæsar!"

The late world-renowned Dermatologist,

Sir ERASMUS WILSON, F.R.S.,

The FIRST AND ONLY

President of the Royal College of Surgeons who ever gave a public Testimonial, and the following is

THE ONLY TESTIMONIAL HE EVER GAVE.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were, a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose-water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach, a generous stimulant. It not only removes the dirt, but the layer which carries the dirt; and it promotes the displacement of the old cuticle to make way for the new, to increase the activity of change in the skin. Now turn we to Toilet Soaps and there we find a name engraven on the memory of the oldest inhabitant—PEARS.

PEARS' SOAP! an article of the nicest and most careful manufacture, and the most refreshing and agreeable of balms to the skin."

GENERAL DISPATCHES.

A WHITE MAN SCALPED BY INDIANS IN IDAHO.

A Posse Gives Chase, but are Unsuccessful—An Improved Mail Service to Alaska—Murderer Coella's Guilt Proven—The Tariff Bill Discussed.

PORTLAND, Sept. 27.—The grand jury to-day found a true bill against the mayor and city council of Portland, and M. Burelbach, for jointly maintaining and operating a nuisance in the shape of a crematory for burning refuse matter. The district attorney drew up a bill of indictment against Burelbach, but refused to do so in the cases of the mayor and council for the reason that he was of the opinion that conviction could not be had before a jury.

Indian Outrages.

SPOKANE FALLS, Sept. 27.—Particulars of the recent scalping of a white man, and other Indian outrages near Sand Point, Idaho, have been received here. It seems that nine buck Indians who were somewhat on the warpath, first made trouble with four or five section men at work on the Northern Pacific railway across from Sand Point. The Indians attacked the men with clubs and stones. Some of the men were seriously hurt and probably would have been murdered but for the timely arrival of the construction train, when the Indians fled. The Indians on arriving at their camp at Sand Point found a white man trying to make a trade with some of the tribe, and not being satisfied with the first outrage, pounced upon this one and scalped him, taking off about two inches from the top of the scalp. News of this last outrage soon reached Bonner's Ferry, from which place word was sent to Sheriff Martinz of Kootenay county, who with a posse gave chase, but did not succeed in capturing any of the red devils. It is reported that a number of other depredations have been committed throughout this section by Indians, and so far as known none of the offenders have been brought to justice. The people are very indignant at the authorities for not taking steps to prevent further outrages.

Alaska Mail Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The post-office department has let the contract for semi-monthly steamboat service between Port Townsend and Sitka, Alaska, and the following intermediate points: Loring, Fort Wrangel, Douglas, Juneau and Killisnoo, Alaska. The distance between the extreme points is 1050 miles, and during the months of November, December, January and February a trip is not to exceed ten days for each way, nine days each way to be allowed during the rest of the year.

Religious Liberty.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—In an interview with an English Catholic nobleman, the pope said he fervently hoped for the renewal of permanent diplomatic relations in England under the beneficent rule of Victoria. He continued: "The church enjoys throughout the British Empire substantial liberties." He had the deepest personal regard for the queen, whose thoughtful care for the poor and suffering had won golden opinions throughout the world.

Tranquil Tipperary.

TIPPERARY, Sept. 26.—The situation is more tranquil to-day but there is still a great deal of suppressed excitement among the people. Streets are crowded, but no further collision with the police occurred. A detachment of troops assist the police in maintaining order. The trial of conspiracy was further adjourned until this afternoon, notwithstanding the vigorous protest of Timothy Healey, counsel for the prisoners, against adjournment.

FIGHTING IMMORALITY.

Port Townsend Determined to Clear Out Gamblers and Courtesans.

PORT TOWNSEND, Sept. 26.—Gamblers here are in hot water. The grand jury came into court at ten o'clock this morning and presented 11 indictments of persons not under arrest. The clerk was instructed to issue warrants for the indicted persons. At noon to-day Ed Lake was brought before the court on an indictment for keeping a faro game. He furnished bonds to the amount of $1600, with E. E. Hickman, W. Stevens and Henry Rothschild as securities. H. H. Fazon, also indicted by the grand jury, furnished similar bonds.

Four women, keepers of houses of ill fame at the lower end of town, were indicted by the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $100 in each case. The women could not furnish bonds and were released upon their own recognizance.

It is the general impression that all owners of houses of ill-fame in the city will be indicted, as well as the keepers of such places.

Two indictments were found against Charles Bang, a Chinaman, for keeping a house of ill-fame. Bonds in the sum of $100 for each indictment were given by Ah Gee and another Chinaman for Bang's appearance before the superior court.

MURDERER COELLA ON TRIAL.

His Guilt Proved Conclusively. He Pleads Self-Defense.

PORT TOWNSEND, Sept. 26.—The state concluded its evidence to-day in the trial of Dominico Coella for the murder of John Deletes, on the night of July 2. The murder was the most brutal ever recorded in the history of Washington. Coella was engaged as a clerk for Deletes, who run a fruit and candy store on Water street. The first intimation the police had of the murder was when an entrance was forced in the store, which was found closed in the morning, and the dead body of Deletes was discovered. Suspicion was immediately fastened on Coella, as he had disappeared suddenly. Deputy Sheriff Jones, Chief of Police Delaney and Detective Kunkler took the case in hand, and with the assistance of an Italian named Joe, who knew of Coella's whereabouts, the latter was captured, but not before firing upon the party, receiving a shot from one of the officers in return. Kelleher and Fairfield, of Seattle, appeared for the defense, while Prosecuting Attorney Coleman was assisted by John Truman.

The state witnesses proved conclusively Coella's guilt. The witnesses for the defense will be examined to-morrow. The defendant will plead self-defence.

THE TARIFF REPORT.

Some Opposition is Expected, But it is Thought it Will Pass.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—The conferees on the tariff bill have reached a final agreement and their report will probably be ready for presentation to the house this afternoon. The conferees have agreed that bill shall go into effect Oct. 6th. The duty fixed on binding twine is seven-tenths of a cent per pound. Duty on sugar is that given in United Press dispatches yesterday free up to number 16 Dutch standard, with five-tenths of a cent a pound duty above that grade. Bounty to be two cents a pound on sugar above 40 polariscope test and 1⅜ cents between 80 and 90. No attempt will be made to put the conference report through the house to-day. It will be called to-morrow and it is thought it will be agreed to before adjournment. The senate will consider it on Monday, and speeches will be made by Senators Aldrich, Carlisle and possibly Senator Ingalls. It should go to the President Monday night or Tuesday. Senator Aldrich says Congress can adjourn next Tuesday, but the general impression is that adjournment will not be reached before the end of the week or the Monday following. There is great deal of feeling among Southern members about the proposed change in the rate of bounty of sugar between 80 and 90 polariscope test. They claim it is contrary to the rules of both houses for conferees to make change in an item upon which both houses have agreed, and Carlisle will make this point against the item. In the senate it is claimed by Republicans, though, that there was a general disagreement between the two houses on the sugar schedule, which warrants the proposed change in bounty, and besides, that the change in the time of putting the bounty system into effect makes the change in the rate of bounty on German. Some anxiety is felt about the attitude of western senators toward the binding twine agreement. Senator Paddock is much put out by the action of the conferees, and he has stated this afternoon he will vote against the conference report. It is not known how many of recalcitrant senators will stand with him, but the conferees do not think this will be enough to defeat the report.

SLAVIN SETTLES M'AULIFFE.

The Australian Boy Gets in His Heavy Right and Wins the Battle.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—When McAuliffe, in his fight with Slavin last evening at the Ormonde club, was sent to the ground in the first round, there was tremendous cheering. Immediately upon McAuliffe regaining his feet both men got together, and McAuliffe landed a terrific blow upon Slavin's face. The American at once kept on the face of his man, and hit him two terrific blows. This round ended decidedly in McAuliffe's favor.

On resuming hostilities Slavin awaited his chance, and when it came he rushed in evidently determined to finish his man. He knocked McAuliffe clean off his feet with a resounding blow, and when the latter rose, commenced his attack most vigorously. Slavin sent in a terrific blow which again sent the Californian to the floor. His seconds, seeing further perseverence useless, threw up the sponge, and admitted their man was beaten.

The announcement caused wild excitement. The betting was 5 to 4 on Slavin. The fight lasted six and three-quarter minutes. McAuliffe's face showed marks of severe punishment. The Australian chased his man around the ring, McAuliffe cutting a sorry figure when they got together. Slavin was twice as energetic as his opponent in dealing punishment with his right.

TO THE NORTH POLE.

A Swedish Expedition Confident of Reaching the Earth's Axis.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 27.—Baron Nordenskjold has great hopes that the new polar expedition which Norway is fitting out may meet with success. The great Arctic explorer is not to take part in the new voyage, but he watches every detail of the preparations with profound interest. He expresses a firm belief that the North Pole will be reached before long. "This is a good period to make a dash for the North Pole," he said. "All the conditions seem to be favorable. I feel quite certain that the North Pole will never be reached by a ship. I think a ship should be used to convey the explorers to the land nearest the pole and the rest of the journey should be made overland."

On the subject of the utility of the discovery of the North Pole the baron said: "Man should not rest until every spot on earth has been reached and carefully examined. The North Pole may be the key to a thousand things. Who knows? Science should press on and on until the lost secret is known. No man should raise his voice in discouragement, for the whole world will be the heir of the explorer who reaches the pole and brings back full scientific details. It is folly to cry 'what is the use?' There is use in everything, and nothing terrestial should be hidden from man."

SPORTING NOTES.

Brief Resume of Sporting Matters Here and There.

A special dispatch from Vancouver says there will be a horse race next Saturday between Hito, of Victoria, and Joe Whyne, of Chicago, for $1000, half-mile dash, providing the track is in good order. Let the association get a move on.

THE BURCHELL TRIAL.

THE ACCUSED MAN STILL RETAINS HIS COURAGE.

The Authenticity of Certain Papers Proven —Several Witnesses Swear to the Identity of the Prisoner and His Companion —Attempt at an Alibi, etc.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 25.—Burchell appeared in court this morning as cool and collected as ever in the face of a great crowd. A large number of ladies crowded into the court room at the opening, interrupted the proceedings and made several calls for silence necessary. Even then the proceedings had to be suspended until order was restored.

The first witness, S. K. Fuller, manager of the Imperial Bank here, identified the signature of F. A. Somers on certain checks as that of the prisoner, who opened an account with the Imperial Bank December 10 or 11, 1888. He identified also the letters as those of the prisoner.

The counsel for the Crown wanted to put in as evidence certain letters to Mellerish, through whom the prisoner and Benwell were brought together. The judge said if he decided that the evidence should not be received he would instruct the jury. The letters covered the skeleton of a correspondence from the time the negotiations were entered upon with telegrams sent ostensibly from the Stafford house, Buffalo, but really from the prisoner, telling himself at Niagara Falls to ship heavy baggage to Niagara Falls, N.Y. The effect of these telegrams was to show that the prisoner carried on systematic deceit on Benwell and his father after the young man's disappearance.

During the reading of the telegrams expressing his fraud Burchell's usually pale complexion became suffused with a light flush. He made notes occasionally.

Conductor Poole, of the Grand Trunk, testified that two men resembling Burchell and Benwell rode on his train from Superior Bridge to Eastwood, February 17.

Miss Lockhart, of Woodstock, said she was traveling west February 18 from Paris past Woodstock, and she saw two passengers get off at Eastwood. On seeing Burchell afterward in jail she identified him as one of the two who had sat before her on the train. The other she recognized in the body of Benwell when exhumed.

Several other witnesses testified seeing two men on the train February 17.

Alfred Heywood identified Burchell as the man he saw in company with another that day, going past his house as if coming from the train.

John Crosby swore to the meeting of two Englishmen on Governor's road, and identified the prisoner as one of them, and swore that he saw the other in Princeton cemetery the day Benwell's body was exhumed. Crosby fainted during the cross-examination.

Several other witnesses swore to seeing two Englishmen going toward the swamp on February 17, and to seeing tracks in the swamp afterward. Geo. Fredenberg, George McDonald and George Hickinson swore to hearing two shots in the swamp on the afternoon of February 17. Hickinson came here from Austin, Nev., to testify.

Alexander Logan met a man walking alone to Eastwood, February 17, near the swamp, and identined Birchall as the man. Charles Buck also met the prisoner, who asked him the direction as to the road.

Alice Smith, aged 17, testified she knew Birchall as Lord Somerset in 1888. She was then living with her grandfather near Eastwood, and saw the prisoner February 17 at Eastwood, and had a conversation with him. She next saw him in Woodstock jail. On cross-examination Blackstock made a brutal attack upon her character, which caused much indignation among the audience.

Before adjournment Esler said there were only eight crown witnesses to be called. The evidence so far has traced Birchall from Buffalo to the swamp and back to Eastwood station. There is so far overwhelming circumstantial evidence.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 26.—Burchell again faced the crowded court room last evening as calm and collected as ever. He bears himself magnificently, and as one old criminal lawyer remarked, is a model client. The attendance of ladies is constantly increasing, and their whispering during the evening session interrupted the proceedings and made several calls for silence necessary. Even then the proceedings had to be suspended until order was restored.

The first witness, S. K. Fuller, manager of the Imperial Bank here, identified the signature of F. A. Somers on certain checks as that of the prisoner, who opened an account with the Imperial Bank December 10 or 11, 1888. He identified also the letters as those of the prisoner.

The council for the crown wanted to put in as evidence certain letters to Mellerish, through whom the prisoner and Benwell were brought together. The judge said if he decided that the evidence should not be received he would instruct the jury. The letters covered the skeleton of a correspondence from the time the negotiations were entered upon with telegrams sent ostensibly from the Stafford House, Buffalo, but really from the prisoner, telling himself at Niagara Falls to ship heavy baggage to Niagara Falls, N. Y. The effect of these telegrams was to show that the prisoner carried on systematic deceit on Benwell and his father after the young man's disappearance.

During the reading of the telegrams exposing his fraud, Burchell's usually pale complexion became suffused with a light flush. He made notes occasionally.

Conductor Poole of the Grand Trunk, testified that two men resembling Burchell and Benwell rode on his train from Superior Bridge to Eastwood, on February 17th.

The court opened at ten o'clock this morning. In spite of the steady rain there was no apparent diminution in the size of the crowd.

Miss Cromwell, of Eastwood, was the first witness called. She testified that she went to meet some friends on the afternoon of the 17th of February at the station. She met Burchell coming from the Brantford road to the station. His shoes were muddy and trousers rolled up.

Several other residents of the neighborhood and passengers on the train on February 17th, also identified the prisoner. Osler, for the Crown, announced that this was all the evidence against the prisoner.

At the instance of Blackstock, young MacDonald who heard shots in the swamp on February 17th was recalled and severely questioned by Blackstock, as to the statements made by him. He would not deny that he had said that Friedenburg, who corroborated his evidence, was not with him, that there were four or five minutes between the shots, that it was between 2 and 2:30 p. m. that they heard the shots. If he had said these things they were true.

At this afternoon session the defence called a number of witnesses who testified that Robert Caldwall and George Barker, two rough characters, had been seen in the vicinity of the scene of the murder on the night previous to the commission of the crime. The object of this evidence seemed to be to create the impression that possibly these two men were the murderers. Detective Murray testified that when he was investigating the case he first had Barker and Caldwell under suspicion, and had about decided to arrest them when his attention was directed to Burchell. It is understood that all the testimony will be in by noon to-morrow.

WESTMINSTER SHOW.

An Unqualified Success—It Closes in a Blaze of Fire.

Special to the TIMES.]

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 27.—New Westminster is jubilant at the great success of the exhibition, which closed last night in a blaze of fireworks. The city remained full of visitors to the last, the directors having craftily deferred some of the most attractive features until Friday afternoon. This was scarcely fair to those who came from long distances, but it is characteristic of the managers of all events of this kind to study the interests of the trades and hotelmen more than that of the public. Most of the visitors left by late trains last night and this morning. The exhibitors are busily moving the articles from the hall. The fireworks, under the management of Prof. Hand, were the best ever seen in British Columbia.

THE COWICHAN FAIR.

A Great Success—Vegetables and Fancy Work Prominent.

Special to the TIMES.]

DUNCANS, Sept. 27.—The 23rd annual exhibition of Cowichan and Salt Spring Island Agricultural Society held to-day proved a grand success. Trains brought a large number of visitors from the stations on the E. & N. railway. The weather is splendid and quite a contrast to last year, when it was miserable. C Battery band and a number of Victorians are here, the former discoursing music on the grounds. The exhibit of live stock and fowls is not large, but what there is is fine. J. Shopland has several very fine pens of thoroughbred pugs and sheep, also some splendid cattle. Fowls are scarce, but J. W. Flett and J. Dwyer have their general prize winning birds on the ground. Jas. Shopland is alongside his brother with sheep and pigs. G. Cornfield shows several horses, but has not met with much competition.

The hall is nicely decorated, the tables being loaded down with field, garden and dairy produce. There are some excellent samples of oats. The corn is capital. The potatoes were in splendid supply and in varieties showed careful selection and high cultivation. Great cabbages, carrots, turnips, onions and celery occupied places on the tables, and the samples of mangold wurtzels were specially fine; but probably some of the best exhibits were made. A. Pimbury showing 28 varieties of apples. Quinces were shown in large quantity, as were also plums, peaches, melons and apricots.

In butter there was very close competition, it being hard to decide between the exhibits of Mrs. Richards and Mrs. James Evans.

There was scarcely so large a display of preserves as one would have expected, but according to the judges what is displayed is very good. Only two bottles of home made wine are shown.

Bread is in considerable variety and it is manifest that some of the housewives thoroughly understand how to make and bake it.

Collections of needlework is large, prominent amongst which is a handsomely worked quilt. There are also a considerable number of stockings and crochet and fancy needlework are conspicuously prominent, proving that here about there are skilled needlewomen.

This afternoon there is an exhibit of horses in the the grounds, also some racing and hurdle jumping to take place.

The day's proceedings will be brought to a termination by a ball.

THE TABERNACLE PULPIT

DR. TALMAGE ENLARGES HIS FIELD OF WORK.

The Crooked Things of This Earth Are to Be Made Straight, Alike in Business, Government, Domestic Life and Labor—Answers to Prayer.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 21.—Preliminary to his sermon at the Academy of Music in this city this forenoon Rev. Dr. Talmage announced that until the new Brooklyn Tabernacle was completed he would preach to the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Sunday mornings. He was glad to add that by an arrangement made through The Christian Herald, of New York city, he would be enabled to preach in the New York Academy of Music, on Fourteenth street, on Sunday evenings, beginning with the evening of Sept. 28. He also announced that on next Sabbath morning, Sept. 28, he would begin a series of sermons entitled, "My Recent Journey Through the Holy Land and Neighboring Countries; What I Saw and Learned."

The subject of today's sermon was, "Crooked Things." Text, Isa. xl, 4: "The crooked shall be made straight."

Geometry, from the time it was discovered on the banks of the Nile, which by its overflow annually obliterated the landmarks, and the restoration of these landmarks made such a science necessary—I say geometry ever since then has been busy with lines, straight lines, curved lines, lines in angles and cones and spheres, but has never been able to evolve any beauty from a line that was merely crooked. The circle and the square were always considered admirable. Isaiah recognizes the circle and says, "The Lord sits upon the circle of the earth." The altar of the ancient tabernacle was "four square," and the breastplates of the priests "four square," and heaven, according to St. John, is "four square." But the Bible has no admiration for lines that are merely crooked. Indeed my text in prophesying the world's complete rectification declares, "The crooked shall be made straight."

There have been so many moral earthquakes that many things have got into a terrible twist—crooked laws, crooked governments, crooked fortunes, crooked dispositions—and many of the efforts to straighten things have only made them more crooked. And some good people sit down in despair and become pessimistic, and give up life, and the church, and the world as dead failures. With such lachrymose behavior I have no sympathy. It is a promise of the Lord Almighty: "The crooked shall be made straight." I propose, as I may be divinely helped, to mention some of the crooked things that are going to be straightened.

INJUSTICE AND INEQUALITY.

Much of the wealth of the world is in the hands of the profligate, while many of the best people are subjected to distressing privation; and there is going to be a redistribution of property. If it were possible it would be a bad thing to have things divided equally. Some men are able to endure more success than others, and prosperity that might not unbalance you might destroy me. The Declaration of American Independence declares that all men are born equal, but the opposite is the truth, for they are born unequal. In no respect is this more evident than in their capacity to endure success, financial or social. I have seen men by the acquisition of fifty thousand dollars made arrogant and overbearing, and I have known others with their millions of dollars childlike and unassuming and Christian. We would all be affluent, but the Lord cannot trust us. I am glad there are those he can trust. Much is said against capitalists, but the world would be a very shaky world without them.

Who built the great railroads which, while they give such facilities of travel, employ tens of thousands of laborers, supporting them and their families? Capitalists. Who built great ships that stir the rivers and bridge the ocean? Capitalists. Who reared the thousands of factories all over the land in which hundreds of thousands of employes earn their daily bread? Capitalists. Who endowed your colleges, and opened free libraries, and built asylums for the orphan, the crippled and the insane? Capitalists. But for them there would not be an academy of music, or a picture gallery, or a free library, or a steamboat, or a railroad in America. Who put the world on seventy-five years beyond what it would have been in enterprise, in comforts, in educational advantage, in good things without number? Capitalists.

The more money a man gets the better if it come honestly and is employed righteously. Nevertheless we all see that there needs to be a redistribution of property. Communism proposes to make that distribution by torch and dagger and dynamite. Throw the midnight express train off the track and put the factory into conflagration; disrupt society, burglarize, assassinate. Such people believe neither in God nor man nor woman, and they know how to make things worse, but never have made and never can make anything better.

GOD'S METHOD OF REDISTRIBUTION.

I tell you how there will come a redistribution of property. Under the divine blessing good people will get more alertness and acumen and assiduity. Many good people are kept in straitened circumstances because they have been indolent, or lacked courage to take honest advantage of circumstances, and were too stupid to get on. With the very same surroundings others went on to competency. In the better days to come good men will have their faculties wakened, and will in consequence rise to larger share of prosperity. On the other hand, estates wrongfully accumulated will dissolve. If not the sons, then the grandsons will make the money fly, and it will gradually scatter in their hands, and become a part of the general wealth.

Then as to vast properties righteously gathered—and there are thousands of them—such estates will contribute toward helping the unfortunate, not more by charities than by helping struggling people into lucrative business, and the man who has amassed enough and a surplus will say: "There is a young merchant without any capital. I will start him on Fulton street;" and "there is a young mechanic who has no means of his own, and I will put him on a career of prosperity;" and "there is a farmer with too big a mortgage on his land, and I will help him lift the incumbrance." The fact is that if the kindliness and generosity manifested by moneyed men toward the struggling during the last fifty years increases in the same ratio for the next fifty years there will be a condition of society paradisiac. We are going to have a multiplication of William E. Dodges and Peter Coopers and James Lenoxes and George Peabodys. So will come redistribution, and the crooked will be made straight.

Mind this, God never yet undertook a failure. The old book, which is worth all other books put together, makes it plain that God has undertaken to regulate this world by gospel influences, and if he has the power he will do what he says he will, and as no one amounts to anything will deny his power. God has said a hundred times, "I will," but never once has said, "I cannot." We may with our tack hammers pound away, trying to mend and improve and straighten the financial condition of the world, and be disappointed in the result because our arm is too weak and the hammer we wield too small, but the most defiant difficulty will flatten and disappear when God with a hammer made of summer thunderbolts strikes it, saying, "The crooked shall be made straight."

GOD'S HELP IN BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

In your business concerns there are influences perplexing. Your affairs may seem all right to outsiders, for business firms do not advertise their private troubles; but where one firm has everything just as they want it there are a hundred firms at their wits' end what to do with that partner who draws more than his share of the profits, or with that stockholder who comes in just often enough to upset things, or with that disappearance of funds which you cannot account for, although you have suspicions you cannot mention; or with that investment which was made contrary to your judgment because there was a determination to push it through, or because you are going behind month by month without any prospect of extrication. The trouble is putting a wrinkle on your forehead that ought not to appear there for ten years yet, and you will be 40 years old when you ought to be only 30, or 60 when you ought to be 50, or 70 when you ought to be only 60. Stop worrying; either by the dissolution of that firm or by readjusting matters you will be brought safely through if you put your trust in God.

When commercial houses fail the suspension is advertised, but of the tens of thousands of men who are every day extricated no public mention is made. Yesterday was Saturday, and I warrant that as the windows of banks, and in counting rooms of stores, and on every street of every city, God appeared for the deliverance of good men as certainly as when with his right foot he trod Lake Galilee into placidity, and made Daniel as safe among the lions as though they had been house dogs asleep on a rug before a winter's fire. Throw yourself on the promise of the text, or a hundred other texts meaning about the same thing.

I never yet asked God to do anything but he did it if it were best, and in all the cases where my prayer has not been answered I have found out afterward that it was best not to have been answered in my way. But none of us has tested the full power of prayer. It is a force very like some of the forces of nature that were in existence, but not employed. For ages electricity was thought good for nothing but to burn barns and kill people with one fell stroke. The lightning rod on the top of houses was the spear with which the world charged on the thunder storm, as much as to say, "If you dare to come this way I will hurl you into the ground." But now electricity lightens homes and churches and cities and Christendom and moves rail cars, and he is a rash man who mentions anything as impossible to this natural energy.

So the power of prayer was to the world rather a frightful power, if it was any power at all. But that has been changed, and men begin to use it in some things, and the time will come when it will be used in all things, and there will be a Bible in every counting room, and supplication will ascend from every commercial establishment, and when business firms are formed the question will not only be asked as to how much this one and that one put in of capital, but the question will be asked, "Do you know how to pray?"

GOD IN EVERYTHING.

Mightier agent than any natural force yet developed will be this gospel electricity, flashing heavenward for help, flashing earthward with divine response. God in business life. God in agricultural life. God in mechanical life. God in artistic life. God in every kind of life. Your religion for the most part is hung up so high you cannot reach it. It is hung up on the cloudy rafters of the sky, where you expect to snatch it up as you finally go through for heavenly residence. Oh, have your religion within easy reach now! Religion is not for heaven, but for this world. Once in heaven we will need no prayer, for we shall have everything we want. We will need no repentance, for we shall have forever got rid of our sins. We shall have no need of comfort, for there will be no trouble. The Christian religion is not for heaven, where everything is all right, but for this world, where so many things are all wrong.

Washington Allston, whose name you recognize as that of a great American painter, was reduced to extreme poverty, and one day got on his knees and asked for a loaf of bread for himself and his starving family. While he was bowed in that prayer there was a knock at the door and a man came in and said: "How about your painting, the 'Angel Uriel,' that received the prize at the royal academy? Has it been sold?" "No," said Allston. "How much do you want for it?" Allston replied: "I am done fixing a price, for I cannot get it." "Will four hundred pounds be enough?" asked the stranger. "Why, that is more than I asked," said Allston. The four hundred pounds (two thousand dollars) were paid, and the purchaser introduced himself as Marquis of Stafford, who thereafter was one of the most liberal patrons of the rescued artist. "Oh, that all just happened so!" Did it? Tell that to some ignorant man, some benighted woman, who has never read the promise, "Call upon me in the day of trouble, I will deliver thee," or that other promise, "The crooked shall be made straight."

"Well," says one, "you don't apply this in every direction." Yes, I do. Take the most uncertain thing on earth—the weather. The Bible distinctly says that prayer controls the weather. James v, 17, 18: "Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain; and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months. And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain." Do you say that was the weather of olden time? There have been instances in modern times just as marvelous. There's not a Christian ship captain but could give you instances of divine interference with the weather in answer to prayer.

It has been my good fortune to know many ship captains. They are in all our services. They leave their vessels on Sunday mornings and join us in worship. I warrant there are enough of them present this morning to take a whole fleet in safety across the Atlantic. Whenever I have heard them testify it has mightily confirmed me in what I knew before, that God answers prayer concerning the weather. And there have been cyclones that started up from the Carribbean sea, sweeping down every sail, and every smoke stack, and every mast in their course, which in answer to specific petition have been diverted and made to curve around some particular ship, leaving that in calm waters, and then resuming their original path of destruction. The weather probabilities again and again have announced a tempest, and we were all ready for it, but to the surprise of most people the next day we saw the announcement that the atmospheric fury had changed its course. The probability is it struck a prayer and glanced off. If Elias' prayer affected the weather of Palestine for forty-two months I should think somebody now might have a prayer that would affect it for a couple of days.

REMARKABLE ANSWER TO PRAYER.

John Easter was many years ago an evangelist in Virginia. A large outdoor meeting was being held in that state. Many thousands had assembled in the open air, and heavy clouds began to gather. There was no shelter to which the multitudes could retreat. The rain had already reached the adjoining fields when John Easter cried out, "Brethren, be still while I call upon God to stay the storm till the gospel is preached to this multitude." Then he knelt and prayed that the audience might be spared from the rain, and that after they had gone to their homes there might come refreshing showers. Behold the clouds parted as they came near, and passed to either side of the crowd, and then closed again, leaving the place dry where the audience had assembled, and the next day the postponed showers came upon the ground that had been the day before omitted. Do you say it only happened so? I cannot see what you keep your Bibles for, and the God you worship is not my God. Your God is an autocrat, and he is so far off and so far up that the world cannot touch him, and his throne is an eternal iceberg. My God is a father, here and now, and a father will give his child what he asks for if it is best for him to have it. Pray about everything that concerns you, secularities as well as spiritualities. Take to God all your annoyances and perplexities. The crooked shall be made straight.

Some people talk as though God controlled things in general, but not in particular; that he started everything under certain laws and then let it take care of itself, as an engineer might start his locomotive on an iron railroad track and then jump off. What would happen to such a locomotive is what would long ago have happened to our world if God had started it and afterward allowed it to look out for itself. There is no such thing as a general providence. It is a particular providence. God has no general care for a forest. It is a care of every cell of every leaf and root in that forest. God has no general care of the ocean. It is a care of every drop of water in the liquid magnitude. God has no general care for the human race. It is a care of every individual of that race and of every item of individual history. I preach him, a God in infinitesimals, an everyday God, a God responsive, and one breath of earnest prayer, though that breath should not be strong enough to make a candle flicker, will absorb more of the divine attention than if the archangel standing at the foot of the throne should flap both wings.

GOD LOVES THIS NATION.

It is remarkable how many crooked things are in the providence of God being made straight. About thirty years ago our national affairs were as crooked as depraved American politics and bad men and Satan could make them. From the top of Maine to the foot of Florida the nation was red with wrath. It was wrangle and fight all the way through, and one of the mildest things that the north and south promised each other was assassination. During this summer I have traveled through New York and Ohio and Illinois and Indiana and Minnesota and Kansas and Nebraska and Missouri and Texas and Louisiana and Georgia and North and South Carolina and Virginia and Pennsylvania, and I have shaken hands with tens of thousands of people, and talked with men of all sections and degrees, and I have to tell you it is all peace, and in all the states of the Union you could not now marshal a military company of one hundred soldiers to fight against the United States government, unless you got your men out of the penitentiary. Did the corrupt and gangrened political parties do this work of rectification and pacification? No! It was by divine interposition that the crooked has been made straight.

On the 2d of December, 1851, Louis Napoleon Bonaparte rode down the Champs Elysee of Paris, and under the hoofs of his horse a republic was trampled as the rider went to take a throne. It was the outrage of the century. For nineteen years the wrong triumphed. The will of one man who wanted to remain emperor kept down a nation who wanted a republic. But September, 1870, arrived, and Sedan unrolled its crimson scroll. The emperor surrenders with 83,000 troops, 419 field guns, 6,000 horses and 60,000 muskets. From that day the ballot box was up and the throne was down. Free institutions have been substituted for an infamous monarchy. Thank God! The crooked has been made straight.

But why go so far to find fulfillment of my text? In all our lives there are crooked things that need to be made straight, and each hearer or reader will enumerate for himself or herself. With one it is dilapidated physical health, and you are saying, "Why cannot I be in good health when I have such opportunities and such responsibilities?" Alas for the sick headaches and the rheumatic joints, and the neuralgic thrusts, and the lame foot! But you will be well soon. Life at the longest is an abbreviated durance. There is a black doctor that will cure you. Some people call him Death.

No disease was ever able to stand before his touch. Use all the means afforded for physical recuperation, but if they fail the hour of release is not far away. There need be no incurables. There is no sorrow that heaven cannot cure. Those who in this world have always been well will not get the best part of heaven. They will not have the advantage of contrast. They were well before they left this world, and why should they be so gratulated at being well in the next world? But to those who on earth were hindered or broken down in health what a contrast as they step into that domain where there has never been an aching brow, or lame foot, or inflamed muscle, or disordered nerve! For forty years there may have been a stooping in the back, or a twisted muscle, or a curved spine, or a crooked limb, but the promise has been fulfilled. "The crooked shall be made straight."

THE UNHAPPILY MARRIED.

In many a domestic life are difficulties to be removed. There are thousands of matches that were not made in heaven. Some of the loveliest women have been united to some of the meanest, men and some of the grandest men to the most worthless women. There may be no sufficient cause of divorcement, but there has never been any accord. For them the wedding march ought never to have been played. The twain divergent in sentiment, the north pole and the south pole might just as well have been married. A twist of nettles would have been more appropriate than a garland of orange blossoms. The unutterable mistake was made to please parents, or for the acquisition of estate, or for heightening of social position, or from thorough thoughtlessness. I call the attention of such to the rapid dissolution of families.

This thought, which is a sadness to a happy marital state, might be consolatory to those unequally yoked. A very short path is the path of life. The rolling years will give quick emancipation. Everybody, for discipline, must have some kind of trouble, and that is your trouble. Put in a song now and then to cheer your spirit. Make the best of things. Find in God that peace which no one else can bestow. The days and months and years are crowding past, and the last of the procession, so far as you are concerned, will soon have gone by. Remember that some of the best men and women who ever lived have had the same lifetime of misfortune. They bore up under it and so can you. The expiration of the life of one of you will, after a while, remove the affliction. Let the one that remains make no hypocritical mourning at the obsequies of the one that goes, or imitate those whom we have all noticed, who fought like cats and dogs all their married state and then could not get organs to sound dirges doleful enough, or furnishing stores to prepare weeds black enough, or tombstone cutters to chisel epitaphs eulogistic enough.

It is a matter of congratulation that the unhappiest conjugal relation will terminate. The crooked shall be made straight. In the ages of the world when people lived five or six or eight or nine hundred years such consolation for any kind of trouble would have been inapt. It would have brought no relief to some of those old patriarchs to say, "You will have only seven hundred years more of this." But life has been abbreviated by the cutting off of century after century until we can console people, whether their trouble be financial or social or domestic, by saying it will not be long before the crooked shall be made straight.

GOD WILL RELIEVE THE SORROWFUL.

But to those who were once happily united on earth but are now separated the same thought comes in a good cheer. Not long separated! Tradition says that two bells were molded and sent from Spain for a distant land to chime in a church tower. But while in a storm at sea one of these bells was wrecked, and only one reached the shore and was hung in the church tower. And some people thought that when standing on the land they heard that bell ringing for worship or in a wedding peal they could at the same time hear from the sea the lost bell ringing as if in response. Some of our friends and kindred have crossed the stormy sea, and are in the tower of God on high. But we are still in the tempest, and sometimes the surges beat over us, but our souls are still in accord with those who are gone, and they ring down to us and we ring up to them, and there is a sympathy between us that can never die.

"Oh," says some one, "the crook in my lot you have not mentioned, and I sit clear outside of all the consolations you have offered." Well, I will take after you with gospel comfort and reach you before I close. Do you think your wound is so deep the divine Surgeon cannot treat it? Have you a trouble that overmasters God? Is your annoyance of such a nature that you must suppress it? Ah, that is what is killing you. Trouble must be told, or it stings to death the one who carries it. If there is no man or woman that you can trust with the secret you can trust God. Hie away to him. Tell him all about it. Lock your door and tell him aloud, and if you do not get relief you will be the first soul in the six thousand years of the world's existence, and the only one of the hundreds of millions of the human race, who ever called on God for help and did not get it. In all the universe, in all eternity there is not an exception. Stop brooding and commence praying.

I bless my God that while there are so many crooked things in life there are some things so straight God himself could not make them straighter. Divine help comes straight to those who will have it. The angels of mercy fly straight when they undertake a rescue. The hour of your final deliverance marches straight out of the eternities. And as the carpenter puts down his rule on a piece of timber, and with his ax hews away until the last inequality and irregularity disappears, so when God in the last great day shall put down his unfailing measuring rule beside that event which seemed the most twisted in our lives or in the world it will be found out that the last discrepancy has vanished, and the last wrong has been righted, and the last crooked thing has been made straight.

MORMON HYPOCRISY.

Female Emigrants Still Imported Although Polygamy is Removed.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 25.—The following is the text of the manifesto issued by President Woodruff concerning the report of the Utah commission:

"A recent report to the secretary of the interior having alleged that plural marriages are still being solemnized, and that forty or fifty of such marriages have been contracted in Utah since last June, also that in public discourses the leaders of the church taught, encouraged and urged the continuance of the practice of polygamy, I, therefore, as president of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, do hereby, in the most solemn manner, declare the charges false. We are not teaching polygamy nor plural marriage, nor permitting any person to enter into its practice. I deny that forty or any other number of plural marriages have during that period been solemnized in our temples or any other place in the territory. In one case reported the marriage was alleged to have been performed in the Endowment house in the spring of 1889, but I have not been able to learn who performed the ceremony. Whatever was done in this matter was done without my knowledge. In consequence of this alleged occurrence, the Endowment house was by my instruction taken down without delay.

"Inasmuch as laws have been enacted by congress prohibiting plural marriage, which laws have been pronounced constitutional by the courts of the United States, I do hereby declare my intention to submit to these laws, and to use my influence with members of the church over which I preside to have them do likewise. There is nothing in my teaching to the church or in that of my associates during the time specified that can be reasonably construed to inculcate or encourage polygamy, and when any elder of the church has used language which has appeared to convey such teaching, he has been promptly reproved; and I now publicly declare that my advice to the Latter Day Saints is to refrain from contracting any marriage forbidden by the law of the land.

"ALFRED WOODRUFF."

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—On September 16 United States Consul Pope, at Toronto, Canada, wrote Superintendent of Immigration Weber, of this city, that he had been informed that the steamship Wisconsin had on board a lot of Mormon elders bringing over many men and women and young girls, understood to be used for immoral purposes. Colonel Weber forwarded the letter to Senator Edmunds, with a request that he give an opinion in the premises. The Senator's reply was received to-day, from Burlington, Vt., as follows:

"I have not the statute at hand to examine, and so cannot express an opinion in regard to the matter. I suggest that your officer consult the United States district attorney on the subject. I would also advise the Governor of Utah of any such arrivals that go forward to that territory, with names and descriptions, so he and the district attorney may keep watch and catch the polygamists, if possible."

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—P. H. Lannon, of the Salt Lake Tribune, and World's Fair commissioner from Utah, said today that in a few years, with an increase of population and a rigid enforcement of the anti-polygamy laws, the Gentiles will be able to completely throttle the Mormon monster. He thinks it a great mistake to advocate statehood for Utah or its annexation to Nevada. The most effective way to suppress polygamy is to deprive polygamists of the elective franchise.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—Delegate Cain, of Utah, is very much worked up over the statements concerning his people, and in answer to some of them the following card from him appears in this evening's Star:

"To the Editor of the Evening Star: There have recently been published in your paper extracts from the last report of the Utah commission, telegraphed from Salt Lake in advance of its receipt by the secretary of the interior. These convey the idea that polygamous marriages are still being entered into by the Mormons, and that the leaders of the Mormon church continue to teach and force that doctrine and practice upon the adherents of that faith. The object of this and similar dispatches about the practice of polygamy among the Mormons is well understood there. There are pending before congress two or three bills, which, if enacted into laws, would disfranchise every member of the Mormon church by prescribing a test oath such as no Mormon could consistently subscribe to. This proposed legislation would not affect polygamous Mormons. They are already disfranchised. They can neither vote, hold office or sit on a jury. But it would apply to the non-polygamous Mormons, the young men of Utah, who have not violated the anti-polygamy laws and have taken an oath that they will not do so in the future, who have always been loyal to the country and its laws. They are to be disfranchised because they will not vote to suit the anti-Mormon ring at Salk Lake City."

"The minority wish to obtain political control of the territory in order to manipulate its affairs in their interest and to collect and expend the people's taxes. To do this, all non-polygamous Mormons, the sons of the hardy pioneers, who discovered and settled that arid region, must be disfranchised, and for no reason but that some few members of the Mormon church believe in and have heretofore practiced polygamy.

"Knowing, as I do, that the charges lately made against the Mormon citizens of Utah are false, that such statements are injurious to them and damaging to the best interests of the territory, I take great pleasure in handing you the declaration of the President of the Mormon Church, which I have just received by telegraph from Salt Lake, and request its publication as an act of justice to a much-maligned and persecuted people, and to complete the refutation of the malicious statements heretofore published. Very respectfully,

JOHN T. CAIN,
Delegate in Congress, Utah Territory.

A BY-LAW

To Repeal the "Fire Prevention By-law."

Be it enacted by the Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

SHORT TITLE.

1. This By-law may be cited as the "Fire Prevention By-law."

INTERPRETATION.

2. The interpretation By-law applies to this By-law.

FIRE WARDENS.

3. The Council shall, at its first meeting after each annual election, or as soon thereafter as conveniently may be, and from time to time as a vacancy occurs, appoint one of the Aldermen for each ward to be the Fire Warden for that ward, and every such Fire Warden shall hold office until his successor is appointed.

4. The Mayor and Fire Wardens shall have supervision and control of the officers, members and employees of the Fire Department and shall prescribe the rules for its discipline and management. The Mayor and Fire Wardens shall have control and management of the public property now pertaining to the Fire Department of the said City of Victoria, and shall from time to time in their sound discretion, always subject to the approval of the Council, purchase, add to and acquire when necessary, or sell and dispose of when not required for the use of the Department, engines, hose carriages, hose and such other property as the exigencies of the Department may require. The Mayor and Fire Wardens shall, on the first day of January of each year, or so soon thereafter as practicable, report to the City Council the estimated amount of salaries and other necessary expenditures of the said Fire Department for the ensuing year.

5. No person shall impede in any way or hinder any Fire Warden, Fireman or other person under the direction of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department or other officer in command at any fire or fires.

OBSTRUCTING APPARATUS.

6. No person or persons shall willfully or carelessly permit any vehicle to obstruct the progress of the apparatus of the Fire Department going to or returning from a fire, alarm or drill.

BREAKING BLOCKADE.

7. No person or persons, save and except the Mayor, Fire Wardens, Police, Firemen and owners, occupiers or employees of buildings endangered by fire, shall be permitted to enter any burning building or within the lines designated by ropes or guards across all or any streets, lanes or alleys, and any person or persons entering within the lines designated by the ropes or guards, or refusing to move when directed to do so by any police officer or officer of the Fire Department shall be liable to a fine or imprisonment, or both, as provided for in this By-law.

DRIVING OVER HOSE.

8. No person or persons shall run over with any vehicle the line or lines of hose in use at any fires, alarms or drills, so as to injure the said hose.

RIGHT OF WAY.

9. All moveable apparatus of the Fire Department shall have the paramount right of way at all times through all streets, lanes and alleys.

FALSE ALARMS.

10. No person or persons shall, without reasonable cause, make or circulate or cause to be made or circulated any false alarm of fire by utery, ringing of bells, or otherwise.

11. No person or persons shall break, remove or injure any of the parts or appurtenances of the fire alarm telegraph without authority from the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department who shall report such action to the Fire Wardens.

12. No person or persons shall make or fit any key to the lock of any signal box of the fire alarm telegraph, have or retain in his or their possession, or under his or their control a key belonging to or fitted to open the lock of any signal box without authority from the Fire Wardens and Chief Engineer of the Fire Department so to do, or pick or force the lock of any such signal box.

13. No person shall put or place, maintain or suffer to be or remain, any article, thing or matter on or upon the sidewalk so as to interfere with the free access or approach to any signal box of the fire alarm telegraph.

14. Any person moving or intending to move any house or building in, on and through any street or streets where it may become necessary to interfere with any fire alarm wire, shall give due notice to the Fire Wardens and Chief Engineer of the Fire Department before commencing to remove said house or building. The person moving said house or building shall give security in coin, not less than twenty-five dollars, and any other security that may be necessary to defray all expenses in taking down, removing, fixing and repairing said fire alarm telegraph or any portion thereof, or any damage thereto in consequence of the moving or removal of the house or building.

FLYING KITES.

15. No person shall raise or fly a kite within the city limits.

FIRE ESCAPES.

16. Every building of three stories or more in height, occupied or used as a hotel, boarding or lodging house, or any factory, mill, manufactory or workshop, shall be provided with good and sufficient means of egress in case of fire. Every building in which operatives are employed above the first floor shall be provided with metal fire escapes, and women and children shall not be employed above the second story of any factory, shop or printing office unless there are two or more means of exit. All fire escapes shall be built and placed in accordance with the instructions of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department or other officer appointed by the Fire Wardens, shall be kept free from any obstructions and shall extend from the first story to at least four feet above the roof.

WHOLESALE AGENTS, LANGLEY & CO., 21 & 23 Yates St.

17. Every building of four stories or more in height used as a store, warehouse, factory, workshop, hotel or lodging house and all theatres shall have a four inch metallic stand pipe within or near the front wall, extending from four feet above the line of sidewalk to the line of roof, and at each story there shall be proper branches with gate valves, and there shall be a Siamese inlet at the line of sidewalk, all of the proper dimensions to connect with the hose of the Fire Department.

STOVES, FIRE PLACES, ETC.

18. No smokestack or pipe of metal for conveying fire, smoke or hot air, shall be fixed nearer than twelve inches to the face of any timber, and no such smokestack or pipe of metal shall pass through any timber framing or partition of wood or lath and plaster, or through any wooden floor unless it is encircled by a rim of solid stone, brick, or metal not less than three inches wide and equal in thickness to the full finished thickness of the framing through which it passes.

19. No person shall set or place any stove, furnace, range or vessel in which fire may be kept, in such a manner that the back thereof be less than sixteen inches from any woodwork; unless such woodwork is protected by metal, and in that case not less than twelve inches; and all iron stoves, furnaces and vessels in which fire may be kept, not built into a brick chimney, shall stand upon stone, brick, zinc or other incombustible material, which shall project at least one foot from the front or door of the same.

20. Every occupant of any building shall keep all pipeholes in any chimney in such building, while such pipeholes are not in use, closed by a proper stopper of metal or other incombustible material.

21. No occupant of any building shall permit any chimney, stovepipe or flue therein to become unclean or take fire.

ASHES.

22. It shall be unlawful for any person to deposit any ashes, or cause the same to be deposited or placed, or permit the same to be or remain in any wooden vessel or upon the floor of any building, or in any place or premises belonging to or occupied by him, or her, or others, or in any metallic vessel within two (2) inches of any woodwork or structure, or place, or permit any hay, straw or other combustible material uncovered within his courtyard or lot of ground within ten (10) feet of any building.

INFLAMMABLE SUBSTANCES.

23. No person shall keep any larger quantity than eighty gallons of coal oil or other oil of a similar combustible character in wooden casks, or three hundred gallons in tin, iron, stone or earthenware, or twenty gallons of crude oil, burning fluid, naphtha, benzole, benzine, or other similar combustible fluid in any wooden building; and no person shall keep any larger quantity than one hundred and fifty gallons of coal oil, or other oil of a similarly combustible character in wooden casks, or seven hundred and fifty gallons in tin, iron, stone or earthenware, or eighty gallons of crude oil, burning fluid, naphtha, benzole, benzine, or other similarly combustible fluid, in any brick building, unless the same shall be kept in a cellar properly ventilated and without a floor, or with a floor of brick, stone, cement, or other incombustible materials, in which case three hundred gallons of coal oil or other oil of a similarly inflammable character in wooden casks, or one thousand gallons in tin, iron, stone or earthenware, may be so kept; and no person shall permit or suffer any of the fluids mentioned in this section to flow into any municipal drain or sewer.

24. Notwithstanding anything in the last preceding section contained, when fire-proof buildings, so constructed as to insure at all times a thorough ventilation thereof and used exclusively for the purpose of keeping or storing coal oil, burning fluid, crude oil, naphtha, benzole, benzine, or other similarly combustible materials, are isolated or detached at least two hundred feet from all other buildings, then any of the said fluids may be kept and stored therein without limit as to quantity, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained.

25. No person shall take a light or fire in any such storage building as is mentioned in the last preceding section, any fire either for heat, light or other purpose.

26. No person shall at any time keep or store any fluid mentioned in this By-law, in the unlimited quantity therein authorized or mentioned, unless he has obtained from the Inspector of Buildings, within one year then last, a certificate to the effect that the building in which such fluid is stored or kept is in all respects of the character and description mentioned in that section; and for every such certificate the person obtaining the same shall pay to the Inspector of buildings, for the use of the Corporation, a fee of one dollar.

27. No person shall, at one time, convey in any vehicle more than two hundred and fifty gallons of any of the combustible fluids herein mentioned or referred to.

28. No person shall keep in store or for sale or use in any building within the Fire Limits more than the quantity of hay or straw following, namely:

For every livery or hack stable, 15 tons.

For storage or sale, 15 tons.

For private consumption, 2 tons.

29. No person shall, in any building where hay, straw, shavings or other combustible materials may be, smoke or have in his possession any lighted pipe, cigar or cigarette, or carry or keep, or suffer to be carried or kept, any lighted lamp, candle, or taper not being enclosed in a lantern or shade so as to prevent accident from fire therefrom.

SMOKE AND DRY HOUSES.

30. All smoke houses or dry houses shall be built of brick or stone, and the doors and roof of same shall be constructed of some non-combustible material.

SHAVINGS, HAY, STRAW AND LITTER.

31. Each person making, using or having the charge or control of shavings, hay, straw, paper, bags, litter or any other combustible waste or fragments, shall, at the close of each day, cause the same to be securely stored or disposed of so as to be safe from fire.

AISLES OF BUILDINGS.

32. All aisles and passage ways in buildings used for public assemblages shall be kept free from camp stools, chairs, benches, sofas, or other obstructions during any performance, service, exhibition, lecture, concert, ball, or public assemblage whatever.

SMOKESTACKS AND CHIMNEYS.

33. Whenever in the judgment of the Fire Wardens or upon the complaint of a majority of the residents adjacent thereto, any smoke stack, chimney, flue or stovepipe endangers the surrounding property by fire, or annoys the residents in the neighborhood with smoke, soot or cinders, the Fire Wardens shall order the same to be abated, altered or improved as they may think most suitable for the protection of the surrounding property and conducive to the comforts of the residents in the vicinity.

UNOCCUPIED BUILDINGS.

34. Whenever any unoccupied building or buildings are not properly secured the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department or other officer in charge of said Fire Department, shall immediately visit the premises and notify the owner, agent, or person having control of same of the condition of the said unoccupied building or buildings, and to have it, or them, within twenty-fours, properly secured, so as to prevent evil disposed persons having access thereto.

PERMIT TO KINDLE FIRES.

35. No person shall kindle or cause to be kindled or used, any fire upon any street or highway, or anywhere in the open air in the City of Victoria, without a permit to do so signed by the Chief Engineer, or other officer in charge of the Fire Department. This section shall not include fire in furnaces necessarily used in laying roofs or pavements, nor the fires used in furnaces of engines necessarily used in blasting or hoisting, nor to fires in the open air upon private property, necessarily used in setting tires upon the wheels of vehicles or in heating tar or pitch.

ENFORCING REGULATIONS.

36. The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, Assistant Chief Engineer, or any municipal police officer, may enter upon any property which is, or is reasonably supposed to be subject to the regulations of this By-Law, in order to ascertain whether such regulations are obeyed, and no person shall obstruct any such officer in the discharge of his duty.

37. Every person convicted of an infraction of any of the provisions of this By-Law shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars.

REPEAL.

38. The by-law "For the Protection of the City against Fire," No. 1, the by-law, "Defining the Duties of Fire Wardens and regulating the the conduct of the inhabitants at fires," No. 2, "A By-Law for the protection of fire ladders within the City of Victoria," No. 73; the "Fire Alarm By-Law, 1882," No. 87, the "Petroleum By-Law, 1882" No. 92, sections 3, 4, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, and 29 of the "Victoria Building By-Law, 1883," No. 98, and section 6 of the "Fire Limits and Wooden Buildings By-Law, 1885," No. 116, a By-Law for the prevention and suppression of fires, 1887, and so much of every other by-law as is inconsistent with this by-law or makes any provision for any matter herein [illegible] for, are hereby repealed; and this by-law is [illegible] substituted for them.

Passed the Municipal Council the 3rd day of September, A. D. 1890.

Reconsidered and finally passed the Council this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1890.

VICTORIA, SATURDAY, SEPT. 27.

IS THE INSTITUTION CHAPERONE FAIR?

The chaperone is an imported article, an exotic in the society of this continent, and while she has much to recommend her, it must not be forgotten that she is a feature by which society tacitly admits its moral decay.

The understanding in the days of our mothers and grandmothers was that a reputable girl might go to any reputable place with a reputable young man, and that if a young man was not reputable no reputable girl could or would go with him. The chaperone became necessary when the dissolute young man began to be tolerated because of his wealth, or his position, or his "family."

The chaperone in an orderly society founded upon sound morals is impliedly an insult to those whom she is set to accompany and watch. Her presence implies that they are persons who will misbehave unless watched.

The practice of chaperonage is after all only a modification of the Oriental custom of locking women up in harems to keep them out of mischief. In the case of the Oriental woman, who is educated neither in mind or morals, the safeguard in its extreme form is necessary. To the girls of our country who are educated in both, it should not be necessary under ordinary circumstances.

In the Southern States it was, and is, deemed a point of honor with every man, that when a woman was entrusted in his care, he owed her protection, even with his life, not only against all other men, but equally against himself. To suggest a chaperone would be to insult the escort with a doubt of his honor.

The chief objection to the chaperone, as a social institution, however, is that her existence is a detriment to those women who must earn their living. They cannot afford or readily obtain chaperonage, and they go about in places and under circumstances which according to social decree, render a chaperone necessary. There are many thousands of these women who are as refined, as sensitive, and socially as worthy as any women anywhere. A social custom which compels them to place themselves under ban of immodesty, or abandon self-support and become dependent, is vicious in effect, whatever its intent my be. It works sore hardship to a large and noble class.

The chaperone is, after all, a wholly useless appendage, of no more real account than a lap-dog or a bangle. Her mainteinance in American society is mere affectation, an aping of aristocracy without aristocracy's very good excuse for suspecting itself.

THE IRISH FAMINE.

Before the winter shall have set in people in America will be asked to contribute $5,000,000 for the benefit of hungry cottiers in the west of Ireland. This is the fourth famine which has overtaken Ireland in the last forty odd years. During the famine of '48 hundreds of thousands of people perished, it is said, from acute starvation and from cholera brought on by eating rotten potatoes. During the famine of '62 more than 10,000 deaths were added to the usual death rate, while in '79 not less than 9,000 cottiers went over to the silent majority for the want of potatoes enough to keep body and soul together. The famine of this year, of course, is not to be compared with that of '48. Even if the failure of crops was as wide-spread as during '48 the mortality list would not be swelled to the terrific size that characterized that year, but even Government agents admit that the outlook in Donegal, Mayo and Galway is at least as unpromising as in 1879. This year, as is the case every year, Ireland will send enough food to England to feed her entire population three times over. This pays the rent, that is to say the land lords will get every dollar of it, who in their turn will pay over $35,000,000 to London money lenders, and this is how it comes about that when a famine overtakes Ireland she has to look abroad for assistance. Rent has absorbed the surplus earnings of the country. BALFOUR's plan of relief is to build three and possibly more, narrow guage railways, which he has been promising this three years past, but, says a writer on the subject, "unless a good deal of red tape is pushed aside, railway construction cannot begin before March which will be too late." But there is another remedy. It is the intention of BALFOUR to ship a quarter of a million of these famine stricken people to America. These unfortunates will be shipped by the way of Canada to evade the United States immigration laws, and arrangements are now being effected to this end. A million dollars was voted BALFOUR for this purpose by Parliament some time ago. And we may remark in this connection that the question of "assisted immigration" need not bother the heads of Canadian statesmen this year nor next. BALFOUR's benevolence has provided against the recurrence of this perplexing question, all that Parliament has to do is to prepare for the reception of people who cannot make a living in Ireland though Ireland exports famine years three times as much as she can eat.

The situation in Ireland as revealed in the statement that she will export this year three times over what she would require for her own consumption, the money value for the same going for rent, is an eloquent protest against the land system that obtains in the British Isles. Balfourism, however, cannot be held responsible for it. The disease is organic. There is no remedy for it short of the overturning of the entire British polity. Landlordism has become a vested right. With it, we are told, the integrity of the British Empire is inseperably bound up, the system must be maintained though thousands starve that hundreds may roll in wealth. All this may be legitimate, moral, and stand approved of in the sight of heaven, but all the same a system of rent which absorbs every dollar we could earn over and above a fair livelihood, so that when a bad year came we must either beg, borrow or steal, or starve, would provoke a revolution in this country, and we ought not to be surprised that there is turmoil in Ireland. Men will not work that they may eke out a miserable existence. Where men work hard, turning over the bulk of their earnings to landlords the inevitable consequence is moral deterioration. Why work like a slave, economise and improve land to the highest pitch of fertility only to have the rent raised proportionately which leaves you no profit for your energy? The incentive to energy is gain. Make it impossible to get ahead in the world and energy ceases. What has been the cause of the tremendous energy displayed by men of all sorts on this continent? The cause has been that no limit has been put to gain. It is useless to argue that the Irish are thriftless, because on this continent they not only have hoed their own rows, but during the famine of 62-63 they sent $95,000,000 to Ireland. If the Irish are shiftless, the abominable system they have lived under is partly responsible for it. If they are natural conspirators the nature of their environment, instead of having the effect to remove, has encouraged this disposition. It must always be so with a conquered people, who are racially the antitheses of their conquerors, and especially since they are separated by a line of religious demarcation. Religion—but here we begin to press on somebody's toes. If we berate Catholicism, a protest goes up. If we berate Protestantism a like demonstration is at once manifested. If we berate, both a general and unequivocal howl goes up all along the line. It is as much as a newspaper man's salvation is worth to offer a few conjectures as to the extent religion has raised the devil in Ireland.

THE STORY OF HONEST JOHN AND THE WONDERFUL IMAGE.

In the fifth year of the reign of HUGH, the Commander of the Faithful, in the Province of British Columbia, it happened that the Grand Vizier died, and a new man was appointed in his stead. And the new vizier, whose name was JOHN, was exceedingly Honest and Devout, and much of his time spent he in the mosque praying for his enemies. And so liberal was he, and so unappreciative of the vain things of this world that he gave away much of the public lands to his friends and kinsmen and his own property gave he to the poor, reserving to himself only a few Vancouver lots that he might not be impovished in his old age, and that his friends might bury him decently when he died.

Now the new Vizier, not many moons after he had been honored by the Commander of the Faithful, bethought himself of magnifying his name still more, and making his power felt more fully throughout the land. And he said to himself: "I will make me a powerful image, and set it up in my office, and I will cause other images like unto it to be set up in all the universities and places of learning throughout the land and I will speak to the Commander of the Faithful and he shall issue a decree commanding every pedagogue and every urchin throughout the land to fall down and worship the image that I shall set up. And it shall be so that when the pedagogues and the urchins shall look upon the wonderful image they will shout with joy and say: 'All praise to Honest JOHN for the wonderful image he has set up.' And thus my name shall be magnified among the people."

Thereupon the Vizier called his servants together, and gave them directions to construct the image. And when his servants had completed the image, the Vizier raised his eyes and looked upon it, and lo, the head of the image was very stupid-looking, like unto the head of a jackass; and its body was exceedingly large and heavy, like unto the body of an elephant; and its legs were like unto the legs of a goose, and so frail that the servants feared that the image would fall to the ground while the Vizier was looking upon it. And the whole of the image, even the head and the body and the legs, was covered with a pigment prepared by the great necromancer Deceit, and it changed its hues ten times every day.

And the Vizier, when he had admired for the space of half an hour this production of his mighty intellect, prepared a great feast in honor of the image. And he invited his friends and his kinsmen to the feast and showed them the wonderful image. And when they examined its head, and its body, and its legs, and the pigment that changed its hues ten times every day, they marvelled exceedingly and asked, "What is the name of the image, and what is its significance?" And the vizier replied, "The name of the image is Daily Marking, and I have caused other images like unto it to be set up in every university and every place of learning throughout the land. And it shall be that whenever an urchin shall get a new idea into his noddle, the pedagogue shall take note of it, and he and the urchin shall at once fall down and worship the image." But not one word did the vizier say to his friends and his kinsmen of the praise and honor he expected to receive on account of the wonderful image. But they, even his friends and his kinsmen, praised the image, not by reason of its beauty or its usefulness, but because they did not wish to offend their host and because of the public lands and the great feast he had prepared.

Now, in due time the Commander of the Faithful issued his decree commanding all the pedagogues to worship the image which the Vizier had set up. And there was a great commotion among the pedagogues and some of them refused to fall down before the image, saying, "We will not worship the image which the Vizier, Honest JOHN, has set up, for it is ugly and cumbersome and deceives up by its colors, which change ten times every day." And one of them, named MUIR, bolder than the rest, tried to raise an insurrection because of the image, but him one day the Vizier took unawares and stabbed him behind his back with his sword, so that he maimed and crippled him: And a great fear fell upon his comrades so that they durst not rebel. But the cringing and the syscophants and those that were under the thumbs of the Vizier, were on their marrowbones every day, worshipping the image and crying, "All praise to Honest JOHN for the lovely image he has set up." Now, when this was reported to the Vizier, he was greatly pleased, and gave directions to his servants, saying, "Lo, these are the pedagogues whom my heart delighteth to honor. See that ye deal gently with them if they err, and that you push them up if they would rise higher." But the other pedagogues winked at one another, yet kept they each one his counsel in his heart.

Now, it happened about six months after this, the time when "intense heat and grasshoppers" make things lively at Kamloops and the region round about, that the pedagogues assembled in great numbers in the city of Victoria, where the Commander of the Faithful held his court. And when they had first paid their respects to the Commander of the Faithful, and prostrated themselves three times before him, they went to the mosque to make an oblation. Which being done, they betook themselves to the public hall to consider what it was best to do with the image which the Vizier had set up. And they took the image to pieces and examined each piece carefully, even the head and the body and the legs and the pigment which the necromancer Deceit had prepared, and which changed its hues ten times every day. And they saw that it was the pigment that deceived, and they said: "This image is a delusion and a snare, and we will petition the Commander of the Faithful to have it, and all others like unto it, removed from the places of learning and to have the Vizier also removed for the great evil he has wrought."

Now, when Honest JOHN, the Vizier, heard this, he gnashed his teeth in his fury, but did nothing to the pedagogues lest, peradventure, the Commander of the Faithful should remove him and put another lieutenant in his place. And he went every day, as was his wont, to the mosque to pray for his enemies. But the other pedagogues, even the cringing and the sycophants and those that were under the Vizier's thumb, became exceedingly quiet and melancholy. And there was peace throughout the land for half a year.

THE CHRONICLER OF THE KINGS.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Says the Ottawa Free Press: The minister of finance thinks that the passage of the McKINLEY bill by the American congress will do Canada good, as it will force Canadians to seek new markets for their products. How exceedingly wise. Mr. FOSTER might also argue that it is a good thing for a man to be turned out of employment, because he is then forced to find a new job. Or perhaps it is a good thing for a family to have their house burned, because then they can seek new quarters. No wonder we have hard times when our public affairs are managed by men who talk such idiotic nonsense. According to Mr. FOSTER's logic it would be a good thing if he were turned out of office, because then he could resume the old business of talking against "distilled damnation" at ten dollars a night. Of course, the passage of the McKINLEY bill, which his folly has provoked, will not reduce Mr. FOSTER's emoluments, no matter how seriously it may affect the country's trade and industry, and hence he can afford to look with serenity upon the struggles of the workingmen whose wages are reduced, upon the difficulties of the farmers whose products are depreciated in value, and upon the embarrassments of the merchants whose trade is demoralized because of the policy of commercial restriction and high taxation which he helped to foist upon the country. The talk about "finding new markets" is merely the old cry of live horse and grass will grow.

FIFTEEN STATES FOR $16,000,000.

The Vast Area of Territory Acquired by the Louisiana Purchase.

The recent admission to the Union of six states in the far West emphasizes the fact of the immense area of our country; and when it is remembered, says the Boston Advertiser, that the great region out of which these and so many other states have been carved was bought from France at one stroke for $16,000,000, the magnitude of the transaction and comparatively trifling cost of this territory are equally striking. "Less than 2 cents for each 100 acres of the land conveyed," is the statement of L. E. Munson, in a leading historical article on "The Louisiana Purchase," in the New Englander for August. Truly may we say that Louisiana cost us next to nothing. The exceedingly interesting fact is made prominent in the article to which we have referred that France had only a nominal possession of Louisiana at the time Napoleon sold it under treaty to this country. Spain had just previously ceded back this territory to France by secret treaty of October 1, 1800, but the Spanish flag still floated in New Orleans and generally throughout the settlements of Louisiana, and commercial rights were denied the United States in New Orleans by Spanish authorities for two years after this secret treaty. President Jefferson had, however, learned of the treaty, and it was for the purpose of securing commercial privileges, not for the purpose of negotiating for the purchase of Louisiana, that James Munroe was appointed special minister to France.

Everything favored the United States at this time, it will be remembered; France needed money, not only, but England had 20 warships in the Gulf of Mexico waiting for the signal to move up the Mississippi and seize Louisiana. Napoleon was not in a position to defend his American possessions, and, seeing that he was bound to lose them if he did not sell them, really played a brilliant part in turning them over to the United States for an amount large in those days, and which enabled him to prepare more suitably for the final struggle with England. It is of interest to note that Spain actually gave over the province of Louisiana to France only twenty days before France formally relinquished the province to the United States.

It is a little difficult to exactly prescribe the limits of the territory included in this purchase, because there was not always boundary line given conferred to in the treaty. Louisiana, as it came to the United States, was larger than the thirteen original states. It embraced a territorial area, as Mr. Munson points out, 150 times larger than Massachusetts, and twenty-six times as large as New York. In the 87 years since this grand acquisition there have been admitted to the Union from Louisiana twelve great [illegible] nearly twice as large as the Empire state, and the three states of Oregon, Washinton and Idaho west of the Rockies. Estimating our population at 65,000,000, there would be less than fifty to the square mile if it all were located in the Louisiana purchase, while by the census of 1880 Massachusetts had 228 to the square mile, and New York 106. It is not to be wondered at that Jefferson's purchase impressed itself very favorably upon his own generation after a very short period of criticism at the extra-constitutional nature of the treaty.

In our day the purchase of Louisiana appears to be the most important territorial acquisition of the kind, ever made. Several more states are still to be created out of this territory, and the rapid development of the states already in existence have made of Louisiana a it was in Napoleon's day, a populous and prosperous region whose like Jefferson himself doubtless never dreamed of.

LACROSSE.

Great Game at New Westminster—Magnificent Contest.

The lacrosse game at Westminster was the finest ever witnessed in British Columbia. We are indebted to the Columbian for an excellent description of the game. The teams were as follows:

Vancouver—L. Draper, goal; point, A. E. Suckling; cover point, E. Quigley; defence field, H. Quigley, J. Smith, F. Rankin; center, E. Nicholl; home field, A. E. Rankin, A. C. Knight, A. J. Bonibrae; outside home, W. D. Wood; inside home, D. Smith.

Westminster—Coldwell, goal; McKenzie, point; Campbell, cover point; Ketchum, Stewart and Peele, defence field; Allen, center; Dalgleish, Lewis and Turner, home field; Ryal, outside home; Cambridge, inside home.

Mr. Wm. Cullin, of Victoria, acted as referee and Mr. Macgurn, of Victoria, and Mr. O. L. Lockesby, a Montreal merchant, as umpires.

Mr. James Leamy called on the players at three o'clock, but Vancouver objected to the referee and an hour was lost in disputing. Mr. Leamy, however, was firm and declined to change his appointments, and the result was that at 4 o'clock Vancouver decided to play.

FIRST GAME.

The referee lost no time in starting the ball, Allen and Nicholl facing off. The ball was taken out by Nicholls and sent down towards the Westminster flags where Smith got it and made a shot on goal. A hot brush occurred dangerously close to the flags, but Coldwell took the rubber out in brilliant style and gave it to McKenzie who threw down field. A long and fierce fight soon followed close to the visitors' flags, and repeated shots were made on them and Draper saved more than one game for his team. The ball travelled up field again, and in turn the Westminster defence were put on their metal and given a chance to show all their stubborness and brilliancy. Grand work was done on all sides, and although the Westminster defence kept the ball well down on the visitors' flags the home men failed to score, owing to the grand defence of Suckling, the Quigleys and Rankin. Finally the ball travelled up field again where A. G. Rankin caught it and shot on flags; the ball passed through, winning first game for Vancouver in 46 minutes.

SECOND GAME.

The second game started sharp on time and was followed by several hot attacks on the Vancouver flags. In this game the superior play of the Westminster team was shown at all points excepting home, where something seemed to be wanting. After a hot shot by Cambridge on the visitors' flags Draper got the rubber and threw down field where Nichols got it and and dropped on goal; Rankin swiped it, and the ball passed through winning second game. Time 13 minutes.

THIRD GAME.

Before play started several changes were made in the positions of the Westminster men, Allen being moved to inside home. The value of the change was soon observable, and from this time on to the end of the match the force of the visitors' play was broken, and the general superiority of the home team loomed up at every point. The struggle was short, sharp, and decisive. For four minutes, Ryal, Lewis, Cambridge, Allen and Dalgleish, stormed shot after shot on the Vancouver flags; then the ball went to side field but was quickly returned and Cambridge got it, was checked by E. Quigley and passed to Ryal, who gave it to Lewis. The latter shot to Cambridge, who sent the ball through the flags like a flash, winning first game for Westminster. Time 5 minutes.

FOURTH GAME.

This game was a repetition of the former, nearly all the work being done in the vicinity of the Vancouver flags. Once or twice the rubber traveled towards the home flags, only to be quickly returned. Finally Ryal got the rubber, and being hotly checked passed it to Dalgleish, who lobbed to Allen. The latter posed deliberately, took prefect aim and shot the sphere through the flags with the speed of a bullet, winning second game for Westminster. Time, 10½ minutes.

THE LAST GAME.

As only a few minutes remained for play, an agreement was reached to play to a finish, so as to settle the match one way or the other. The Westminster men began by several heavy onslaughts on the Vancouver flags which were warded off with difficulty. Then the ball was sent to the Westminster end, and Campbell, McKenzie, Ketchum and Stewart fought like demons to keep it back. Campbell relieved the strain after a few moments and sent the rubber careering down field, where Dalglish got it and passed to Cambridge, who shot on the flags, winning the last game and victory for Westminster.

A scene that simply beggars description followed, and cheer after cheer rent the sky, the sounds of which were distinctly heard on the opposite side of the river. It was a great victory and nobly won after the best played match ever seen in the Province. The men on both sides played true lacrosse, and that is enough to say.

The referee, Mr. Cullin, managed the match to the satisfaction of all, and never has this office been better or more impartially filled. The decisions of the umpires were correctly given, and without hesitation.

FROM THE INTERIOR.

Mr. J. P. Walls Brings a Small Budget of News from Clinton.

Hon. Justice and Mrs. Walkem remained at Clinton for a few days.

Officer Redgrave brought an unfortunate man who had become insane, from Kootenay to the Westminster asylum. The cause is supposed to be religious mania.

Mr. J. P. Walls, who attended the Clinton assizes as crown prosecutor, returned last evening. He informs the TIMES that there were no criminal cases, Mr. Justice Walkem being presented with the customary pair of white kids by Mr. Sheriff Phair.

Mr. Walls does not claim to be an agricultural expert, but he says any man with half an eye can see the marvellous richness and productiveness of the Bonaparte Valley where irrigable. Immense crops of corn, potatoes, cabbage, and all root crops, and apples, plums and pears have been grown this year. Only a small portion of the valley is under crop.

A Chinaman named Ah Fuke was released on a writ of habeas corpus. He had been committed on the 2nd of September by J. Gallagher, J. P., of Lillooet, for three months for selling whiskey without a license. It appeared during the hearing of the case that the prisoner's property consisted of a mining claim and cabin, had been sold by the magistrate for $40, but under what power did not appear. The purchase money had been appropriated to pay the costs of the magistrate's court, but was found insufficient, and the unfortunate Chinaman is held by the justice to be still liable for a much larger sum, one of the items of which is $10 for contempt of court.

CITY AND PROVINCIAL.

FINANCE DEALT WITH.

The Last Legal Act Concerning the Sewerage By-Law Completed.

With Ald. McKillican in the chair the board of aldermen met at the city hall last evening to finally consider and pass upon the sewerage by-law and sale of fire engine house by-law, lately assented to by the ratepayers. Clerk Fowler having read the two by-laws, on motion they were passed finally to print.

After the sale of the engine house by-law had been submitted. Ald. Smith rose to say that he objected to the sale of the property by tender, and thought such sale should be made by public auction.

Ald. Vigelius was not sure that the board had power to change the by-law now it had been passed upon by the ratepayers.

Ald. Smith was of the idea that even if this board had not that power to refuse to accept the highest or any tender.

Ald. Goodacre, Harrison and Kelley thought it would be a good idea to refer the matter to the city barristers meantime.

This was so ordered.

DEBENTURES.

Ald. Vigelius then moved that tenders be advertised for the debentures for the $300,000 sewerage loan, tenders to be handed in not later than the 21st of November next.

The matter of printing the debentures was referred to the finance committee for report.

WORK TO COMMENCE.

Ald. Harrison rose to say that Mr. Mohun and Mr. Wilmot would commence making levels on Monday morning next.

CITY HALL SIDEWALK.

Ald. Harrison also drew attention to the unfinished state of the side walk around the City Hall, and said it must be finished or else it will be pointed to as a disgrace to the city in its present condition. This seemed to be the opinion of the board, and the finished walk will probably be a fact.

COURT OF REVISION.

The chairman drew the attention of the board that on Monday morning at 11 o'clock the court of revision would meet.

The board then rose.

THE NEW QUEENSTOWN.

The Projected Terminus, Port and Harbor on Vancouver Island.

In the closing days of '89, attention was called by a communication from an "Old Salt" in the columns of the TIMES to the future importance of some of the best harbors on the western coast of the Island, in connection with the imperative demands following in the wake of the canning shipping interests, and our commercial relations with the Orient. The completion of the Siberian transcontinental railway to the shores of the Okhotsk Sea, and the completion of the Canadian Pacific steamers for mail and passenger traffic, with old-established lines and mail routes from the United Kingdom to China and Japan, which exacts a competition of not only days and hours, but also minutes, demands that there should be a port on the immediate waters of the Pacific ocean, unhindered by either circuitous routes or great distance of difficult inland navigation, available for embarkation and debarcation of mails and passengers at a point where vessels will first see land to the present terminus of our continental railway at Vancouver on the mainland. The great "trade circle" from Yokohama to San Francisco touches within hailing distance of the northwest part of the island of Vancouver. By the extension of the existing Island railway to Fort Rupert, with a branch of about 18 miles to the shores of Winter harbor on the west coast, and a fast channel steamer from Comox or Nanaimo to the mainland terminus of the C. P. R. at Vancouver, would give the Canadian Pacific mail and passenger route to Hong Kong an advantage of 48 hours in clear weather, to say nothing of fog over the present circuitous route around the island of Vancouver to a point nearly opposite to where land was first sighted. Scarcely an hundred miles of rail and some thirty miles by steamer will obviate the necessity of carrying mails and passengers on a voyage of 500 miles, or at least two days steaming and which can be accomplished in from 5 to 6 hours at most. There can be no doubt but that the C. P. R. Co., will, before long, avail themselves of this route, if not, then they leave a splendid opportunity open to the Canada Western or any opposition line that may crop up in the future.

A person of ordinary intelligence looking at the map will, by a single glance, be convinced of the practicability of this project, and will wonder why the C.P.R. does not hasten to avail themselves of so splendid an opportunity to facilitate the rapid transit of its oriental mails and passengers. It is well known that extensive coal measures underlie the northern portion of this island from Cape Scott to Discovery passage, and that coal of superior quality for steaming purposes has been found in the vicinity of Quatsino Sound—in fact coal crops up on the shores of Winter harbor, where the new city of Queenstown has been lately laid off.

This site for the western Queenstown was selected some four or five years ago, as being the only port or harbor possessing the essential natural qualifications and facilities in proximity to the immediate waters of the Pacific Ocean. Well sheltered from prevailing winds, wide entrance, deep water and good anchorage, extensive coal fields and the nearest point of land to the shores of China and Japan, brings it within possibility to make Queenstown in the near future the Pacific port of British Columbia and the coaling station par excellence of these northern waters. What Marseilles or Brindisi are to the overland route to India so will be Queenstown to our overland route.

The site occupies the only level stretch of beach possessing the only available and practicable wharfage frontage on the shores of Winter Harbor or any of the neighboring inlets. The town is laid off at right angles to the streets, running parallel to the water front. The streets are 60 feet wide—that along the water front 99 feet—and the lots 60x120 feet. There are 12 lots in each block, and about 60 blocks in all, which will be quite enough to meet the building demands for years to come. The growth of Queenstown will be steady, substantial and sure. One or two blocks have been reserved near the center, one block from the water front, for a public square, the city hall and market place. The foreshore is a beautiful sandy beach, the land gently sloping towards the dense forests in the rear, affording thus a easy facility for sanitary drainage and water supply from the many crystal lakes and creeks that find their outlet in Winter Harbor.

The plan of the new Queenstown only requires the names of the streets to be inserted and a few minor alterations in connection with the wharfage accommodation being rectified before the blue prints can be distributed. When completed the lots will be offered to the public at very reasonable prices.

The streets and avenues will be named after the leading men of Victoria, and the prominent leading features of the surroundings after the older Queenstown and the City of Cork. two little inlets at the entrance of the harbor receiving the name of Spike Island and Haulbowline respectively. It is to be hoped there will be no necessity for a convict station at the former, and that the latter will at no distant day become a great naval depot like its namesake in the beautiful cove of Cork.

A Dangerous Practise.

A lot of children have made it a practise of late to play around the new Methodist church on Pandora street, which is now reaching skyward. Some of the youngsters, who are of both sexes, seem to be rather daring, for it is no uncommon thing to see them get on the top of the arch about 30 feet from the ground. This is a very dangerous practice, for the least misstep would suffice to hurl them to the bottom which would mean certain death.

Cleared at Last.

Blanchard street, between Cormorant and Pandora streets, has again assumed its usual state, the old piece of a house that has been standing there for the last fortnight having been removed to day. The contractor was evidently as anxious as the public to get it out of the way for he raised it on two lumber wagons, hitched four horses on to it and took it to a new locality, for it, on View street alongside of the other house that also blocked the thoroughfare for several days in the course of its removal.

Quick Time.

Several gentlemen connected with insurance companies, who were in the city yesterday, arranged with the fire wardens and chief engineer for a trial run of the department, and shortly before 9 o'clock last evening an alarm was struck from box 14, corner of Government and Johnson streets. One of the hose companies hitched up the horses, opened the engine house doors, drove down Cormorant street to Government, up Government to Johnson, made connection with the engine, and had water in a fraction over a minute. The whole department responded in splendid shape, and the gentlemen for whose satisfaction the test was made were loud in their praises of the work done, which cannot be beaten by the best paid department anywhere.

At Last!

The long expected illustrated History of Utah by the eminent historian, Hubert H. Bancroft, has at last appeared. It is absolutely a revelation. After visiting the field in person, taking testimony impartially from all sides, critically reviewing the enormous number of 1000 different authorities, and searching many of the secret achieves of the Mormon Church, Mr. Bancroft now gives to the world this wonderful and remarkable work, the only true history of Mormonism published.

The work reads like a romance—the wonderful adventures of trappers and travellers, the bloody Indian wars, the thrilling accounts of massacres and miraculous escapes, the famous Danite Association or Destroying Angels, the story of Brigham Young—all this fresh from the pen of the brilliant and gifted author forms a narrative of exciting interest, as fascinating as a novel yet true to the letter. Above all in surpassing interest is the unfolding of the great Mormon Question and the mysteries of Polygamy which will be read with eager interest by all classes of people throughout the English speaking world. The work is published in one large handsome volume of 800 pages, bound in red and gold, and grandly illustrated with steel-plate portraits of the great Mormon leaders, exquisite half-tone engravings and dazzling colored plates. It is issued by the great Publishing House of the Pacific Coast, The History Company of San Francisco, and can only be procured through their authorized agents. We call attention to the advertisement in another column, under heading of $25.00 Reward.

Beautiful Women

The magical effects of Wisdom's Robertine as a beautifer and preserver of the complexion, have been attested by thousands of leading ladies of society and the stage. It is the only article that discharges at once, gives a pure and beautiful tint to the complexion, removing tan, sunburn, freckles and all roughness of the face and arms, leaving the skin soft, smooth and velvety. All remarks on its delightfully cooling and refreshing properties, a distinction not found in any other similar article known. D. E. Campbell, agent.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!

STOP IT NOW,

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

We would call the special attention of purchasers to our Mantle and Dress Departments.
Which are now receiving a complete and attractive range of goods. The stock for value will be found unsurpassed in the City.

Seal Jackets and Mantles.
Having made arrangements in early Spring with a leading fur house, we are in a position to offer REAL ALASKA SEAL garments at last year's prices. We show sample, take purchaser's measure, and deliver in say thirty days, guaranteeing fit and quality. As Alaska furs have experienced a sharp advance in price, the advantage of the above arrangement is obvious.

Jackets, Ulsters, Coats and Dolmans.
We handle B. Caspee's goods, and are the only house in the Province that does so. For Style, Fit and Quality these goods are unrivalled. In nearly every instance we have only one of a kind. Prices right.

Waterproofs.
The Fife, the Teak, the Princess, the Russian, all in beautiful new designs. Also in Imperial cloth, very choice.

Furs.

LYNWOOD.

Opening Play of the Russell-Jewell Dramatic Company Monday.

The Russell-Jewell Dramatic Company, headed by the talented actor, Mr. Geo. W. Cane, and supported by the charming young actress, Miss Jessie Donrach, have been making their third annual tour of the coast cities, presenting a repertoire of the most popular New York successes. Monday evening they will open with Lynwood at the Victoria theatre. Seats are on sale at Waitt's bookstore.

LABOR'S PROGRESS.

The Representatives of Victoria Trades Unions Make a Step Forward.

The Victoria Trades Assembly held its regular fortnightly meeting in the Philharmonic hall last evening.

The revised constitution and by laws were considered, and will be finally adopted at the next meeting, after which this central body of organized labor will assume the more comprehensive name of "The Victoria Trades and Labor Council."

The report of the provisional delegates to the Provincial labor conference in New Westminster on the 24th inst., was read and approved of. Presuming that the other cities in the Province will also approve of the action of the conference, the B. C. Federated Labor Congress, consisting of delegates from the various labor organizations in Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster, will hold its first annual convention in Nanaimo early next November.

The urgent necessity of a public market was fully discussed, and the following resolution, a copy of which will be sent to the city fathers, was adopted on that subject:

"Whereas, owing to the inability of the producer and consumer to come face to face for the sale and purchase of home grown produce, the quantity, quality and price of such articles are regulated by the avaricious middlemen; and whereas, such a state of affairs is detrimental to both producer and consumer, and an impoverishment of the community at large; therefore, be it resolved by the Victoria Trades Assembly, in regular session assembled, that the city council be requested to take immediate steps for the establishment of a public market, such an institution, in the opinion of this Assembly, being an imperative necessity.

JOHNSON STREET RAVINE.

Prosecution Will be Instituted at Once Unless the Law is Obeyed.

The first case arising out of the complications caused by Mr. A. DeCosmos' injunction against the city in the matter of allowing sewage to run down the Johnson street ravine, came up in the police court this morning, when Mr. R. Maynard was charged with not connecting his premises with the Johnson street sewer. Mr. Taylor, of Eberts & Taylor, city barristers, appeared for the prosecution. Mr. Maynard was not represented by counsel. He explained that the refuse flowing from his premises into the ravine was charged with chemicals from the photographic studio, and consequently was more of a disenfectant than a polution. Mr. Edwin Johnson, S. M., Q. C., who was on the bench, after hearing the merits of the case, ordered that the proper connection as ordered by law be made within one week.

In this matter of prosecution for not complying with the by-law Messrs. Eberts & Taylor have pointed out that unless parties who now use it as a sewer cease at once, further prosecutions will follow. Mr. DeCosmos has entered an action against the city to prevent the ravine being used as a sewer, and to save itself from bearing damages, action must at once be taken by the corporation.

More Men.

The steamer Wellington has arrived at Departure Bay with forty men for the mines. Only a few of them will go to work, now that the state of affairs there is fully known to them.

Harvest Thanksgiving.

The annual harvest thanksgiving will be held to-morrow (Sunday) at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Michael's—Lake District—when the Archdeacon will preach. The choir of St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, are to assist the choir of St. Michael's. The offertory will be in aid of the organ fund.

Court of Revision.

The court of revision, comprised of the board of aldermen, will meet at the city hall in the council chambers, on on Monday morning at eleven o'clock, to hear any complaints from ratepayers who consider that they are in any way over assessed. There are but two or three cases to be heard, which speaks well for the city assessor's judgment in the premises.

A Youthful Artist.

The Art Association Exhibition has been the means of bringing out considerable talent which has hitherto been unknown to the public. The latest addition to the exhibition has been made by Master Walter S. Atkinson, 13 years of age, who resides at No. 38 Pandora street. The lad is a son of Mr. Frank Atkinson, engineer at the Deluge fire hall, and has only taken lessons for five months in painting from Miss Watson. His work consists of four pictures in water colors, and show a superior gift on the part of the youthful artist in depicting the true colors of nature. His subjects are "A Farm Yard Scene," "A Summer Scene in the Country," a "Scene on the River Dee," and a "View on Loch Katrine." All the subjects are dealt with in a masterly manner, and prove that the lad will make a name for himself in art circles if he keeps up his studies.

Special Jury.

The trial of the striking Wellington miners, who have been charged with intimidation, will come up on Monday before a special jury. Two charges are on the docket.

Church Notices.

Services will be held in the Reformed Episcopal Church to-morrow at the usual hours. Pastors: the Right Rev. Bishop Cridge and Rev. Dr. Reid. Subjects, morning, "Assured Immortality;" evening, "Sacred Art."

First Meeting.

The members of the Victoria Riding Club had their first meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the fountain at the confluence of Douglas and Government streets. About thirty horsemen were present, and a very enjoyable ride was had.

Dog Found.

Sergt. Walker, of the city police, found a well-bred Irish setter dog on the streets the other night. The animal has been taken care of by the Sergeant and will be returned to it owner on proving property. The dog appears well trained, and is evidently a valuable hunting companion.

Essay on Stove Pipes.

It is not everybody in the world who is willing to pay the amount necessary to obtain Russian iron stove pipes. These are certainly the finest pipes made and the next finest are Shipe's patent pipes of which there are 7,500 on the way from the east for mclennan and mcfeely and will be sold at same price as sommon stove pipes.

West Coast Prospecting.

General Lyman E. Banks will go north on the steamer Princess Louise leaving on Tuesday, and will land at Soquash where the work of prospecting is now being gone on with. The prospectors have got a fine diamond drill at work, and from indications the minerals sought for will be found in abundant quantities. In a month or so the General will return, and by that time he will probably have some definite news to give of his work on the west coast prospecting for coal and gold.

Fine Fitted the Crime.

In the police court this morning E. Lince was charged with an infraction of the city by-law by discharging fire-arms within the city limits. Mr. S. P. Mills appeared for the defence, and pointed out that his client had only fired the arm to scare away a horde of unruly boys who were breaking down fruit trees and doing damage. No intention of harm accompanied the act. Mr. Johnson, who was on the bench, thought that a nominal fine would meet the requirements of the case, and recorded one of ten cents, said sum to be paid at once. It was paid.

Lock Pickers.

A master-mariner of this port, who for many years has been considered, and rightly too, as a model of honesty and virtue, was this afternoon found, in company with another semi-maritime person, who has always been looked upon as square, endeavoring to pick the lock of a safe. Coal oil had been poured in the lock and wire keys and other tools were being used in the attempt to gain an entrance to the strong box. When surprised in their work the pair did not express the least shame at being detected, because the safe happened to be the one taken from the wreck of the Sardonyx, and the two amateur lock pickers were employees of the C. P. N. Co., and consequently had a right to open it.

Trial Trip.

The new steamer Thistle was taken for a trial trip this afternoon. She has recently been engined at the Albion Iron Works, and will soon be ready in every detail to go into the trade intended by her owner Mr. Manson. Under command of Capt. La Blanc she went for a short trip around outside the harbor and return, with several invited guests of the owner on board. Everything worked first class, and a good rate of speed was developed. Mr. W. H. Kettle is chief engineer, and under his skilful control the engines gave every satisfaction, being easily and quickly handled and running smoothly. Next week, after the last finishing touches are put on the new boat, she will be placed on the Bute Inlet route.

For Port Crescent.

The steamer Mystic left the harbor at one o'clock for Port Crescent with a party of Victorians on board. The great blast which is to throw a small mountain into the water for the purpose of forming a breakwater was to be set off this afternoon, and the excursionists went over to witness the explosion. If the weather permits Mr. Lowe will take an instantaneous photograph. Among the passengers by the Mystic were the following: Skene Lowe, Charles Wilson, P. C. Dunlevy, F. G. Walker, H. F. Heisterman, Joshua Davies, J. Hutcheson, A. B. Gray, D. Kerr, J. Munro, J. C. McClure, W. Loewen, W. H. Ellis, D. M. Eberts, C. E. Mallette, C. D. Mason, A. McDonald, Captain McLean, A. Bruce, Captain O. W. Jones, C. E. Pooley, Milligan, J. Holland, W. C. Anderson, H. Jacoby, Dr. Newcombe, W. Templeman. The party will return to-night.

THE ISLANDER ARRIVES.

Excursionists to the North Report a Pleasant Trip.

Special to the TIMES:

NANAIMO, Sept. 25.—The Islander arrived at 6 a. m. this morning and left at 9:30 for Victoria. The excursionists are all well and report a pleasant trip.

WHARF AND WAVE.

Jottings of Interest to Marine Men Concisely Compiled.

The steamer Kingstoo did not arrive until 7 o'clock last evening, being detained by heavy freight for this and other ports. She brought over fifty Chinamen which she loaded on the ss. Sussex in the Straits, where the latter waited for her.

PORTLAND, Sept. 22.—The charter of the steamer Lakme to the Union Pacific having expired, she was to-day turned over to her owners. Carter, first mate, has been put in command, and the vessel sails to-night for the Sound, thence to San Francisco. Captain Graves, late of the Lakme, will take command of the steamer Michigan, running between Portland and British Columbia, and Captain Lewis, of the Michigan, has taken command of the Geo. W. Elder, which sails for San Francisco to-night with a full cargo, where she will go into a dry dock for overhauling and repairs of damages received by running aground at Point Wilson. When repaired she will be put on the line between Portland and San Francisco as a freight boat.

Not in Canada.

It has been reported that forty-two Chinese had been brought into Canada by the Kingston last night. That the Chinese had attempted to smuggle themselves into the United States and being caught, had been sent back here. This is incorrect. The forty-two Chinese were not brought into Victoria, but were transferred aboard the steamer Sussex about four miles from the shore and never even entered Canadian waters. Special arrangements had been made with the customs authorities to do the work, and it was accomplished without delay. None of the Chinamen had return certificates to British Columbia and could not land here without either that or payment of the head tax.
